Dear Mr. Athiporn Pothikun,

Thank you very much for your interest in collaborating with HKBU SCE!

We hope the information below addresses your concerns:

1. Will an agreement be required to become a partner?

An agreement is not required for this collaboration.

2. Does the course belong to HKBU SCE, or was it developed in collaboration with a partner university?

The course belongs solely to HKBU SCE.

3. Is the target group university students interested in an online course?

Since the course-embedded exchange is a virtual exchange that engages students from both institutions, they will be interacting with each other via online platforms such as Zoom and Padlet etc.

Please do not hesitate to let us know if you require further details.

We look forward to further collaborating with you and Naresuan University!

Best regards,

Maggie Yip

Dear Valued Colleagues,

Happy New Year and warm greetings from the Virtual Exchange Centre (VEC)

On behalf of the School of Continuing Education at Hong Kong Baptist University (HKBU SCE), we would like to extend you an invitation to explore potential opportunities for course-embedded exchange collaboration via online means with HKBU SCE for the Semester Two of the 2024/25 academic year.

The VEC is dedicated to enhancing intercultural competence and global perspectives of our students by engaging them in a collaborative learning experience with peers from across the globe. Hence, we are actively seeking global institutional partners to collaborate on various academic disciplines.

We are currently seeking collaboration for the following courses:

Name of course: Scientific Foundations of Human Movement (SPRS2503) (AD level)

Description:	This course enables students to develop a broad understanding of the scientific principles associated with sport and exercise. Students will acquire a working knowledge in the muscular, physiological and biomechanical aspects related to sport and exercise and be able to apply the knowledge to evaluate human movement.
Language:	English
Possible dates for collaboration:	March-April 2025
Student numbers:	34

Name of course: Communication Strategies for Globalization

Description:	This course equips students with strategies to enhance global communication while fostering creativity and cross-cultural sensitivity. The proposed exchange seeks to engage students from our university with partner university(ies) to collaboratively explore innovative ideas and design promotional campaigns that capture attention in sectors such as tourism and consumer product development. We are receptive to initiatives that extend beyond the outlined scope, provided they yield a mutually beneficial learning experience within the framework of global communication. Furthermore, we are committed to facilitating partnerships with a diverse array of collaborators, leveraging substantial enrollment in the course to enrich student engagement and outcomes.
Language:	English
Possible dates for collaboration:	mid-March to mid-April
Student numbers:	100

If you are interested in the course collaboration mentioned above, please feel free to reach us at sce_vec@hkbu.edu.hk.

We anticipate your positive response and look forward to the opportunity to work together!

Best regards,
